

[Peck, Jedediah H.]

DEATHS.

In Brookfield, October 31, JEDEDIAH H. PECK, Esq., aged 72 years.

Br. Peck was a soldier in the revolutionary war, and was one of those choice spirits whose object and aim is to do right, and trust the result with God. Since the adoption of our constitution, he has held many offices of responsibility and trust, the duties of which he discharged with honor to himself, and to the satisfaction of his constituents. He was trustee of our society in that place, and one of the best and most active members. Love for Universalism was the ruling passion of his life; and in the hour of death was not diminished. He was always ready to oppose the God-dishonoring doctrine of endless misery, and few men could do it more successfully.

His funeral was attended on November 2d, and the doctrine he loved and practiced in life, was exhibited to a large and attentive audience, in a discourse from Rom. xii:21, by the writer.
