

[Pomeroy, Charles M.]

DEATHS.

In Mohawk, on the 22d ult., CHARLES M. POMEROY, aged 15 years, only son of Mr. R. [Robert] H. [and Sarah A.] Pomeroy. Charles was a good boy, and being the only surviving child of his parents, their care and affection were lavished upon him with undivided intensity. He was the bright link in the silken chain of love that formed the harmony of their domestic and social life. He was endeared to his fond parents, not simply because he had no rival in their affections, but his manliness, his kind disposition, his love of books, and his general amiable deportment inspired their hearts with ardent love and most joyous hope. But he has gone—death would not spare even so fair a flower as this. The funeral obsequies were attended in “the Mohawk Valley Universalist Church,” on the 24th—sermon by the writer, assisted by the Rev. J. L. Starks, of the Dutch Reformed Church of Mohawk. “Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted.”
